From the parlors of yesteryear comes The Entertainer, still charming, ever fascinating . . . a rebirth of one of the earliest forms of automation. Known to those generations in the late 1800's and early 1900's as the 'orchestration piano' or 'nickelodeon', this musical innovation delighted all who saw it and heard it. Even now, almost 100 years since its birth, we can listen to the tinkling piano tunes accompanied by rolling drums, a cheerful xylophone, brassy cymbals and rattling tambourines. The Entertainer fills your senses with the sounds of an 8-piece band and the beauty of lights illuminating the "Tiffany-style" glass front on the fine oak-finished piano. Today's orchestration has computer-controlled, solid state quality, eliminating the burden of storing bulky paper rolls and the time-consuming task of roll rewinding. The disadvantages are gone . . . the orchestration for our time, The Entertainer, is now available for business or home use.

the Entertainer is:

- a professional-model piano, to play manually
- a player piano
- an 8-piece band

THREE entertainment systems in ONE CABINET!

An almost unbelievable attraction, The Entertainer is perfect for restaurants, pizza parlors, taverns and ice cream shops. And its quality furniture cabinet will enhance your business or home for years of enjoyment.

Three instrument systems in one cabinet provide profits for your business or pleasure for your home entertainment. For profit or pleasure, you'll find The Entertainer easy to operate and a real attention-getter!

The Entertainer combines all the charm of a player piano and orchestrion, with the convenience of a computer tape cartridge — no bulky paper roll storage problems, no rolls to rewind. It unites the solid state technology of the Marantz Pianocorder® system and a fine furniture cabinet with a “Tiffany-style” stained glass front for beauty and reliability.
